Comments:

Our bay and delta are in crisis and need fresh water to heal. I support water conservation programs that will educate us, the public, and our farmers on all possible ways we can protect and not pollute our water.

Also, I think it is outrageous that water we tax-payers subsidize is sold to corporate farmers at bargain prices. This encourages waste and must be stopped.

More canals, reservoirs, levees, and dams are not the solution. Rather, conservation programs that educate and increase public awareness are the most sustainable way to solve our bay and delta water problems.
